

The future workplace Something to look forward to

The world's moving towards a simpler, intelligent workplace for you, your employees and your colleagues. Where everything is geared towards creating more efficient, more productive, happier people. A place where, as our Workplace 2025 Results Report shows, health, wellness, energy, collaboration and co-creation are all equally important. And where in just a few years' time, an employee like Jo could find life easier and more fulfilling.

TIME | LOCATION PREDICTION FROM WHITE PAPER

Jo's bedroom

6:45 am

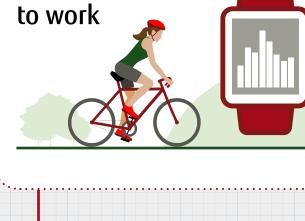

commute. It automatically sets the alarm to go off a bit earlier.

The travel report flags up a traffic jam that will slow down Jo's

Jo cycling

8:00 am

Being carbon efficient is one of her KPIs, so once she's back at the office, the data will be measured and logged.

There will be more attendees than expected in her first meeting, so an Jo's smart watch measures the carbon efficiency of her commute.

Jo enters office

8:45 am

app checks for suitable vacant meeting rooms. Meanwhile, it guides Jo to an available workstation. She settles down and prepares for the meeting.

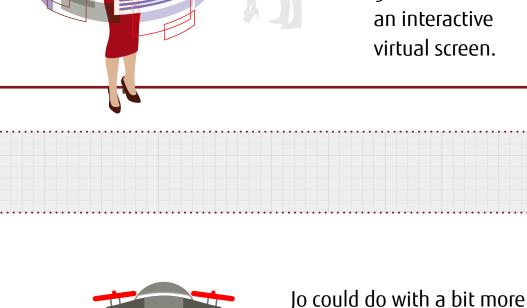

out area

9:35 am

A break

11:00 am

Jo's desk energy. There's still so much to do. A drone delivers an orange juice and some biscuits to her desk.

Jo joins a group

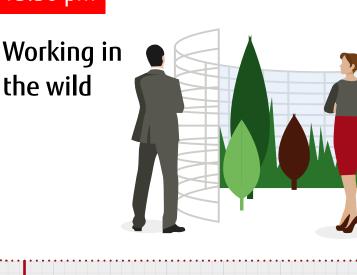

gathered round

an interactive virtual screen.

of colleagues

13:30 pm

meeting room into a more creative space by setting up a virtual forest.

It's been a non-stop day so far. Jo's Smart glasses spot to drop. They increase the her concentration is starting amount of light she's seeing.

The facilitator has made the next

14:45 pm

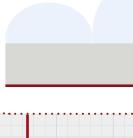

Back at Jo's desk

15:45 pm

The office

wellbeing

space

automatically lock for half an hour. She heads for an exercise break in the office wellbeing area.

It's time for a mid-afternoon break. Jo's devices

home

Jo cycling

day so that she can take a long weekend.

It's later than usual when Jo sets off home. She'll put the extra hours towards an early finish the next to the best intelligent support services.

Contact us for our advice and help workplace of the future?

Ready to start planning your the workplace of the future, read our white papers: Workplace 2025: Take a glimpse

For more information about what you can expect from

- into the Future Workplace Workplace 2025: Is Your Workplace
 - an Asset in the Race for Talent?

shaping tomorrow with you